

Protocol and Declaration for Managing Agents applying for “Supporter of the Unipol DASH Code” designation in Respect of Accommodation Let to Students

The Managing Agent undertakes to:

1. Read and understand the contents of the Unipol DASH Code and what standards and procedures are covered by it
2. Draw the attention of all existing owners and clients to the existence of the Unipol DASH Code and provide a leaflet (to be provided by Unipol) that gives the terms and conditions of the Code and the standards the Code requires the owner/client to meet
3. Seek to persuade the owner/client to meet the Unipol DASH standards as part of their lettings arrangements
4. Seek assent from the owner/client to join properties to the Unipol DASH Code and to process the necessary declaration and co-operate with any subsequent inspection in order that the property is accepted onto the Code
5. Designate Code properties within their lettings system as such and avoid any possible confusion with non Code properties
6. If a complaint is made under the Code about a property that is covered by the Code the Managing Agent will be the first point of contact for Unipol and the Managing Agent will have first line responsibility for any issues or problems under the complaints and tribunal system
7. Attend a one day (or two half day) seminar that explains about the Code, its content, the administrative procedures for declaration and verification and the advantages of joining with preferential marketing.

Unipol Undertakes to:

8. Designate the Managing Agent a Supporter of the Unipol DASH Code and recognise this fact in all property details displayed by that Agent
9. Ensure that properties that are signed up to the Code receive Code status and are displayed, as such, in a preferential manner on it web site
10. Publish a list (both in paper and electronic form) designating which Agents are supporters of the Code and distribute these to students
